

Job Applicant Privacy Notice

Children's Liver Disease Foundation (also referred to as "CLDF" or "the Charity" throughout this notice) collects and processes personal information relating to job applicants as part of our recruitment process. We are committed to being transparent about how we collect and use that information and to meeting our data protection obligations.

This notice sets out the basis on which we collect, use and disclose the personal information of our job applicants, as well as your rights in respect of such personal information.

What personal information does the Charity collect and how?

CLDF collect a range of information about you. This includes:

- your name, address and contact details, including email address and telephone number;
- details of your qualifications, skills, experience and employment history;
- information from interviews and phone-screenings you may have;
- information about your current level of remuneration, including benefit entitlements;
- information about your entitlement to work in the UK; and
- equal opportunities monitoring information, including information about your ethnic origin, sexual orientation, health and religion or belief.

We may collect this information in a variety of ways. For example, personal information might be contained in application forms or CVs (including when these are sent to us as part of speculative applications or queries), obtained from your passport or other identity documents, or collected through interviews or other methods of assessment.

We may also collect personal information about you from third parties, such as references supplied by former employers. We will seek information from third parties only once a job offer has been made to you.

Personal information will be stored in a range of different places, including on your application record, in our HR management systems and our email system.

Why does the Charity process personal information?

CLDF collects and process your personal information for a number of purposes and where we have a legal basis to do so, as follows.

CLDF has a legitimate interest in processing personal information during the recruitment process and for keeping records of the process. Processing personal information from job applicants allows us to manage the recruitment process, assess and confirm a candidate's suitability for employment and decide to whom to offer a job. We may also need to process personal information from job applicants to respond to and defend against legal claims.

In some cases, we need to process personal information to ensure that we are complying with our legal obligations. For example, we are required to check a successful applicant's eligibility to work in the UK before employment starts.

CLDF may process information about whether or not applicants are disabled so we can make reasonable adjustments for candidates who have a disability. Where we process other special categories of personal information, such as information about ethnic origin, sexual orientation, health or religion or belief, this is for equal opportunities monitoring purposes. Our processing of these types of personal information will be carried out to ensure you or us can meet our obligations or exercise our rights under law related to employment or (only where applicable) to enable us to establish, exercise or defend legal claims.

We will not use your personal information for any purpose other than the recruitment process of which you are a part.

Who has access to personal information?

Your information may be shared internally within the Charity for the purposes of the recruitment process. This includes members of the HR team, interviewers involved in the recruitment process, and managers in the business area with a vacancy.

We will not share your personal information with third parties, unless your application for employment is successful and an offer of employment is made. We will then share your personal information with former employers in order to obtain references. We may also share your personal information with our group companies, for business performance and other types of monitoring and management purposes and, if you are applying for a senior management position with us, we may share your data with our investors.

In addition, we may need to share your personal information with a regulator or otherwise to comply with the law.

How does the Charity protect personal information?

CLDF takes the security of your personal information seriously. We have internal policies and controls in place to ensure that your personal information is not lost, accidentally destroyed, misused or disclosed, and is not accessed except by our personnel in the proper performance of their duties.

For how long does the Charity keep personal information?

If your application for employment is unsuccessful (including when you have speculatively applied to us in respect of a role which is not available), we will hold your data on file for 12 months. At the end of that period, your personal information is deleted or destroyed (unless we need to retain it for longer to exercise or defend any legal claims).

If your application for employment is successful, personal information gathered during the recruitment process will be transferred to your personnel file and retained during your employment. The periods for which employee personal information is held will be provided to you in a separate privacy notice.

Your Rights

As a data subject, you have a number of rights under data protection law. You can:

- access and obtain a copy of your data on request;
- require CLDF to change incorrect or incomplete data;
- require CLDF to delete or stop processing your data, for example where the data is no longer necessary for the purposes of processing;
- object to the processing of your data where CLDF is relying on its legitimate interests as the legal ground for processing; or
- ask us to transfer your data to another organisation.

If you would like to exercise any of these rights or if you have any questions about this notice or our processing of your personal information more generally, please contact hr@childliverdisease.org.

If you believe that the Charity has not complied with your data protection rights, you can complain to the Information Commissioner's Office (<https://ico.org.uk/>).

What if you do not provide personal information?

You are under no statutory or contractual obligation to provide personal information to CLDF during the recruitment process. However, if you do not provide the information, we may not be able to process your application.
